The satisfying outcome of this staggered duplex is that both three-bedroom, two-bathroom homes, joined at the garages, have views of the Central Otago landscape and sky. The builder's favourite parts include hidden internal garage entry and full-height cavity sliders into the living areas with vaulted ceilings. Skylights allow natural light to fill the kitchens, bathrooms and hallways. The ducted heating system ensures each room remains at the optimum temperature all-year around. The brick and cedar entries and hallways – sure to make a lasting impression – are fine examples of attention to detail and showcase what can be achieved by bringing the outdoors in.
