This architectural home, with its sharp Rockcote exterior cladding and steeply pitched roof in Colorsteel, is designed and built for both comfortable living and gracious entertaining. The soaring stud height allows natural light to flood across its wide-planked vinyl timber floors. The designer kitchen, with the pantry neatly tucked away from guest view, flows easily to the dining area and, through double doors, to the outdoor entertaining zone. A large lounge, meanwhile, is tucked away behind a sliding door for that extra layer of calm. This skilfully succinct floorplan of 218.4sqm achieves four generous bedrooms, two living rooms and two bathrooms.
